

When God began to create...”

In the past few weeks I have been drawn again and again to Genesis 1:1:

“When God began to create heaven and earth – the earth being unformed and void, with darkness over the surface of the deep and a wind from God sweeping over the water – “

I’ve wondered if my being drawn to this verse repeatedly is God reminding me of something, or even telling me something new. I do not know.

I do know that each time that I read this verse a picture appears in my imagination. A wind is sweeping over the surface of a dark and deep body of water.

The language of the verse is beautiful.

I am reminded of the great power of God.

I look around and see all the examples of God’s continuing creation.

Genesis 1:1. Thank you God.

Roger

